and

Harold L. "Trey" Price, Executive Director, Florida Housing Finance Corporation

Jeffrey M. Hearne is the Director of Litigation at Legal Services of Greater Miami, Inc., where he has worked since graduating from law school in 2001. Jeff oversees the firm's significant litigation and provides a strategic focus to the firm's advocacy in all its practice areas. He previously served as the Advocacy Director for the Tenants' Rights unit and is the Director of the Tenants' Rights Clinic at the University of Miami School of Law. He currently serves on the Florida Bar's Civil Procedure Rules Committee and is a former co-chair of the Florida Housing Umbrella Group, the statewide association of tenant advocates. He has received several honors for his work, including: Consumer Protection Lawyer of the Year from the Consumer Protection Law Committee of the Florida Bar for his work representing tenants (2018), and the Housing Justice Award from the National Housing Law Project (2015) for his "successful and dynamic pursuit of housing justice for people most in need." He is a graduate of the University of Texas at Austin (J.D. 2001, B.A., Plan II, 1998).

Harold L. "Trey" Price joined Florida Housing Finance Corporation as Executive Director in April 2017. With more than 20 years of experience in real estate and government affairs, Trey brings extensive knowledge and insight into Florida's housing needs and an appreciation to the impact that safe, affordable housing has in our State. Trey is a second-generation Floridian born in Okeechobee, Florida. He and wife, Tara, have two young children, and two Australian Shepherds. He enjoys fishing, traveling, and University of Florida football.
